The combination of Jimmie Spencer, representing the Washington Suburban Club, and Fred McLeod of the Columbia Country Club defeated the Burgess brothers yesterday afternoon in the match played over the Suburban club course by 3 up and 2 to play. The golf was not of the highest type as none of the men was playing up to his usual standard; missed putts figuring frequently in the winning of a hole. McLeod played the steadiest game of the document of the other men of the tee, as he was to be expected of such a seasoned performer, and only faltered round, and at the seventeenth tee it d narrowed down to a struggle be-een Spencer and McLeod, with the golfers around the New York section. There are no local events outside of the club closed tourneys, but these in them seeded, as Spencer did not lay his procach dead enough and missed his ir by inches. ing for. That Holy Name was unable to find Greer's offerings for more than two runs is indicative of his effectiveness. Salb also hurled well for Holy Name, keeping the lead for his club once it went to the front. Greer proved himself something of a hitter, too, connecting for three safeties out of four attempts. McCarthy, Crooke and Berhle led in the batting for Holy Name.

Varella and Roche, shortstops for St. Peter's and Holy Name, were the best defensive players, barring the pitchers. Each had an excusable error charged against him, but in the main their handling of plays was away above the ordinary.

Holy Name scored first, getting a man over the plate in the sixth. In the seventh St. Peter's evened up, and then in the eighth the winner got the only other count of the contest. Salb retired three St. Peter's batters in the ninth m order.

It will be up to Jack Nolan today to land the Holy Name team at the top of the Catholic Church League. The little southpaw has been one of the most consistent winners in the amateur circuits for two years, and if he is in good shape may be depended upon to do his share in giving his team a championship. If St. Margaret's hits Nolan's delivery consistently it will be something few teams get the credit for doing. Nolan has fair speed and a represented in the Virginia State Marnames.

It seems to be fairly certain that Holy Name will be the victor in the Catholic Church League. Already it has made sure of its right to the honors for the first half of the schedule, and if it loses today St. Margaret's will then not only have to beat it out for the chamonly have to beat it out for the championship of the second half of the schedule, but also will be compelled to meet it in an extra series between the winners of the two parts of the season for the right to represent the league in the post-season games. Yesterday Clarendon took the measure of the White Sox by 7 to 2, and the ardinals trounced the Eagles by 4 to 1. Both contests were played in Alexandria.

Lefty White did some excellent pitching for the Eagles against the Cardinals, but his support was very poor. White struck out nine men and allowed only three safeties, yet lost his game, which is just the kind of luck doled out to a fellow in base ball at times. The Cardinals got three of their four runs in the first inning, and their only other was made in the sixth.

Ray King did some remarkable hitting. The Clarendon shortstop clouted out two drives for two bases each, and on two of his other three trips to the plate annexed singles. Davidson of Clarendon also hit better than usual, making three singles out of that many times in front of the pitcher. Douglass, Peveril and Quayle of the White Sox and Astryke and White of the Eagles made two safeties each.

It will be up to Jack Nolan today to land teawan, even in winter. A camping outfit is carried in a couple of ruck sacks.

If you are a strong walker and not too soft to enjoy the stimulus of a little hardship, trips with a walking pack offer endless possibilities. Two young men in Washington, who had a penchant for outdoor life and fishing, found that an amazing sweep of country was opened to them by the possession of a couple of Siwash packs. A tent, a canvas tarpaulin, a blanket apiece, food for three or four meals, a very light camp cooking outfit and fishing tackle were strapped up in these. With the camp ax and a stick for handle, these packs could be carried just like a suit case in town and on the train. When the country was reached they were shouldered and could be carried several miles to a and could be carried several miles to a good camping place without too much

These places are crowded with tents every summer. At night long strings of electric lights and Japanese lanterns are reflected in the river, cances ply up and down and the music of mandolins floats over the water. There are houseboats that sell refreshments and even have little dance floors. It is quite a tent colony and one that grows in population every season.

It may be that none of these suggestions for an inexpensive vacation meets with your approval, but at least they prove that ideas are more necessary than dollars when it comes to getting out of the rut.
